

At last the intrusions into personal time and space have been minimized to a manageable level. Although not absolute, we have certainly seen a major improvement since the law went into effect. We deserve privacy in our homes and protection from obnoxious advertisers who target us at dinner time, late at night, and on Sundays. Please do not tamper with New Jersey's Do Not Call law!